BARKLEY'S

THE BEE HIVE Miss Emiline Bee Hive!

The Queen of the young people, sent to us direct by old Santa Claus, will make her first appearance in the center window on Tuesday night. Miss Emiline brings with her the grandest collection of Xmas presents ever shown in Maysville. We received a letter from her on Saturday and she writes as follows:

SANTA CLAUS'S HOME.
Merz Bros., Maysville, Ky.—My Dear Friends: I leave here Saturday at 3:15 with old Santa, and if there are not bad will see you on Tuesday afternoon. Santa Claus told me he was in Maysville in October and went through every store in your town, and after looking through all of them he decided to send me to your store; and oh! I am so happy, because old Santa told me that you have the nicest store in town, and the nicest clerks, and that more little children trade at your store than all the others together. Be sure and tell all the children to come and see me; and tell them I am bringing the prettiest things along with me, and so very many. Tell the children that I am bringing things for their papas, mamas and their brothers and sisters. I think old Santa Claus is bringing too many things for your town; it seems to me he is sending enough Xmas presents for a city like New York. I must stop now. Hoping to find you all well, I am, with lots of love, your little friend,
EMILINE.

We hope our young friends will give Miss Emiline a great reception.

Just let a man apply for an office, and the lie foundry starts in full blast.

There were five suicides in Cincinnati last week; and yet the papers of that city say it is a pleasant place to live.

A young woman died in Cincinnati last week, and the learned Sawbones said it was "ecclampsia" that killed her. Of course, if the I. S. H. had stated that she died of convulsions none of the common herd would have understood what he was driving at. After all, there's nothin' like larnin'.

RAISING the retail license tax in Philadelphia from $500 to $1,000 has reduced the number of saloons from 5,773 to 1,713 since 1887 and lessened the number of arrests for drunkenness 4,000 yearly. That appears to take the crimp out of the favorite Prohibition argument that high license is not a preventive of drunkenness.

THE LEDGER is informed that Dr. ANDERSON NELSON ELLIS is to be sent to Washington City to see that no one is appointed Postmaster at Mayville who voted for Mr. KEOGH.

That reminds—

In the early days in this section of Kentucky the Gospel was "dispensed" chiefly by the Methodist Circuit Rider. It was his habit to browse around among the good country folk, enjoying the best of old-fashioned broiled ham, toasting his feet before the generous log fire, and stopping over night with the hospitable household.

On one occasion a good brother stopped at a Mason county farmhouse, and after all the physical needs had been supplied he suggested to the host that it was his custom, before retiring, to lead the family in prayer. "I never thought of that," said the jolly host—"it's a dam good idea!"

And so it was and is.

RAIN-FOOD NONSENSE.

A author's religious food had been branded by the most competent authorities. They have dispelled the silly notion that one kind of food is needed for brain, another for muscle, and still another for bones. A correct diet will not only nourish a particular part of the body, but it will sustain every other part. Yet, however good your food may be, its nutrient is destroyed by indigestion or dyspepsia. You must prepare for their appearance or prevent their coming by taking regular doses of Green's August Flower, the favorite medicine of the healthy millions. A few doses aid digestion, stimulate the liver to healthy action, purify the blood, and make you feel buoyant and vigorous. You can get Dr. G. O. Green's reliable medicine at J. Jan. Wood & Son, Get Green's Special Almanac.

SPECTRAL HAND OF A CORPSE.

Mrs. John Mustain Claims it Foretold the Sudden Death of Her Husband Miles Away.

Bowling Green, Ky., Dec. 3.—The hand of an alleged spectral corpse clapping her own was the first intimation Mrs. John Mustain received of her husband's death. Mustain, who lived at Horse Cave, fell dead of heart disease at Smith's Grove at 5:07 o'clock Sunday morning. At the same hour Mrs. Mustain, though miles away, wept and screamed that there was a man in her room. She called her son, who hurried to her, and told her she had been dreaming. She insisted that a man had been there and took hold of her hand, and that it felt cold and clammy like that of a corpse. A few minutes later she received the news of the death of her husband.

TWO TEST CASES.

The United States Supreme Court Rendered Very Important Decisions Monday.

PHILIPPINE AMERICAN TERRITORY

All Goods Shipped From the Islands Should Be Exempt From Duty Under the Paris Treaty.

Duties Collected on Merchandise Carried From New York to Porto Rico Was Permissible—Dissenting Opinions.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Opinions were rendered in the United States supreme court Monday in the last two of the unusual test cases of the term. One of them was that known as the "Fourteen Diamond Ring" case involving the relationship of the United States to the Philippine islands from a tariff point of view, and the other, what is known as the Dooley case No. 2, involving the constitutionality of the collection of duty on goods shipped from New York to Porto Rico.

In the former case the court, through Chief Justice Fuller, held that the goods, when brought in from the Philippines and over which the case arose should have been exempt from duty under the Paris treaty of peace, as that treaty made the Philippines American territory.

The decision in the Philippine case followed closely that of the first Porto Rican case of last term. In the Dooley case, decided Monday, it was held that the duty collected on goods carried from New York to Porto Rico was permissible, as that duty was really a tax for the benefit of the Porto Rican themselves rather than an export duty, as was claimed by the merchants who organized the government in the case.

Four Justices Dissented.

In both cases there were dissenting opinions concurred in by four of the nine justices of the court.

The decisions were rendered in the room of the senate committee on the judiciary, where the court is sitting temporarily, and owing to the limited space, there were comparatively few persons, and those lawyers, present. The delivery of the opinions in chief, by Chief Justice Fuller, was really a consummation of a little more than an hour of time and were listened to with the closest attention.

It was generally believed that the finding in the Philippine case will lead to early efforts to secure legislation for the regulation of our commercial relations with those islands. As the Porto Rican opinion sustains the constitutionality of the Foraker act no such necessity will arise with reference to Porto Rico.

CHARLESTON EXPOSITION OPENS.

President Roosevelt Sent His Cordial Greeting—Senator Depew the Orator of the Day.

Charleston, S. C., Dec. 3.—The South Carolina and West Indian Exposition was formally opened to the world Monday with words of greeting from the president of the United States. An imposing parade of military and civic bodies formed down town, escorted the guests of honor to the exposition grounds, where they took part in an appropriate programme of exercises. In the afternoon all Charleston observed the day as a holiday, and the city was handsomely decorated. The weather was beautiful. After the parade had been reviewed at the exposition grounds the guests of the day assembled in the auditorium, where the ceremonies took place. Senator Depew was the orator of the day.

Nerve Slavery

It is present-day conditions—bearing burdens of work upon the nervous system—telling the story—menace breaking up of health.

It tells why so many men and women, who so far as age is concerned, should be in the prime of health, find themselves letting go of the strength, the power, the vitality they once possessed. It is because that great motor power of the body, nerve, is impaired. Neither will the heart, the brain, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach act right without their proper nerve force supply. Let any organ be lacking in this essential and troubles begin—some of them are:

Throbbing, palpitating heart. Stomach lagging. Stomach stagnation. Stomach indigestion. Brain fog. Headache or work or think. Exhaustion on exertion. Flushing of face. Fainting spells. Dizziness. Loss of flesh and muscular power. Settled melancholia.

ALIEN ANARCHISTS

A Bill Providing For Their Exclusion and Expulsion From the United States.

PROVIDES FOR BOARD OF INQUIRY

It Shall Diligently Search For Anarchists Among the Foreigners Coming to This Country.

A Measure Introduced to Define Assaults on Presidents, Vice Presidents, Cabinet Members and Supreme Justices.

Washington, Dec. 3.—Senator Burrows, of Michigan, introduced a bill Tuesday providing for the exclusion and expulsion of alien anarchists. By its provisions the board of inquiry is authorized to diligently search for anarchists among the foreigners coming to this country, and ascertain as to his opinions to governments, or whether he belongs to any society or association with anarchistic tendencies, and it may examine the person of such alien for marks indicative of membership. The board may accept the evidence of the immigrant's common reputation as an anarchist and order his exclusion, or the sale of foreign governments and police notifications as prime fact evidence when may be deemed sufficient to prevent admission of such alien.

Man Boxed Up in Germany and Shipped on a Steamer as Freight to the United States.

New York, Dec. 3.—When a longshoreman Monday dropped into the hold of the steamer Palatia, of the Hamburg-American line, just arrived at the Hoboken docks, he was startled to hear a weak voice call for water. Then he heard moans. Summoning assistance he made a search and found a man lying across salt sacks. The man was dragged to the deck and found unconscious, and Monday night was at a Hoboken hospital with little chance of recovery, or indeed of ever telling his strange tale.

Investigation shows that the stranger had been boxed up in Germany in a packing case marked "J. B. 71." In the case was a small bottle which had contained whisky and various small crumbs of bread. A piece of paper was found marked "John Beck." The box was marked in German: "This side up, with care." There was no air holes in the case and the hatch to the hold had not been opened from the time the Palatia left port until Monday.

The man was well dressed, evidently a German about 30 years old. He had less than a dollar in German money in his pockets. Up to the present the consignor or consignee of the case has not been discovered. HUNTING THE DUCATS.

Bracken County Man Hid $8,000 Where It Can't Be Found.

Buried somewhere within the limits of his little farm near Carnation, Bracken county, or hidden away in some mysterious place in one of the outbuildings, is a treasure of $8,000, all in gold, for which Thomas Burris is diligently searching.

The story is said to have come out from a visit of Burris to Ripley to consult Ed. Caldwell, an old darkey who has some local reputation as a "glass reader," and invoke the powers mysterious to assist him in the search for the buried treasure.

Burris' home was shared by his father-in-law, where the latter was patiently waited upon and cared for by his daughter and her husband, and it was the understanding that the gold would revert to the Burris at the death of the father.

Occasionally the old man, at some seeming neglect or slip, would take from his trunk the bag of gold and slip across the threshold and hide it away; then when the discontented mood had worn off he would stily bring it in and place it in the trunk.

After one of these periodical spells a short time ago, when the old man had carried the treasure out of the house, he sickened and died. During his illness he was not able to disclose the hiding place. Hence Burris's visit to Ripley.

Burris said that Caldwell, on being told the story, stepped into an adjoining room and "looked in the glass," then reappeared and quite accurately described the farm and its surroundings. He said that the gold was on the farm. Burris thinks so too, as the father was too old and feeble to get far from the house or to dig very deep or climb very high.

Caldwell and Burris will in a few days look over the land, and the former gives strong assurance that he will uncover the gold.

The process of skin-grafting has completely transformed her terrible scars, produced by the awful burns, to the likeness as of old, and with a little time to smooth off granulations and particles foreign to perfection science will have restored nature once again to what is most desirable to woman—pretty features.
